

Union Bank Enrolls 11 Offices in MCE's Deep Green 100% Renewable Energy Program and Eliminates Carbon Emissions in Marin County and Walnut Creek Branches

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 03 /CSRwire/ - Union Bank today announced that 11 of its Bay Area offices have enrolled in MCE's Deep Green electricity service enabling these locations to switch to 100 percent renewable energy, furthering the bank's commitment to building healthy and sustainable communities. Union Bank is the first financial institution within MCE's service area to commit to Deep Green, and now operates 100 percent carbon-free in Marin County and Walnut Creek.

MCE is a public, not-for-profit Community Choice Aggregator (CCA) that offers renewable energy choices to electricity rate payers in Marin County, Napa County and the cities of Benicia, El Cerrito, Lafayette, Richmond, San Pablo, and Walnut Creek. By enrolling in the program, the participating Union Bank offices now operate while emitting zero greenhouse gas emissions from electricity usage. This is a collaborate initiative between the bank's Corporate Real Estate team and Environmental Stewardship Department.

"Union Bank has a longstanding commitment to reducing our impact on the planet, and we are proud to be an early-adopter of this program that sources energy from clean, renewable sources, such as solar, wind, and biogas," said Ryan Bjorkquist, Vice President, Environmental Stewardship, Union Bank. "This is just one of the many green initiatives the bank supports in our focus to be a good steward of the environment."

Two administrative offices and the following nine Union Bank branches are participating in MCE's Deep Green 100 percent renewable energy service:
